

Early Colorectal Cancer: Best of Eastern and Western Perspectives

RSGH Congress, Bucharest, June 11th 2025

● We kindly invite you to join our expert-led course to experience real-time clinical decision-making on early colorectal cancer recognition and management.

Course Directors
Prof Silvia Sanduleanu (Netherlands)
Prof Han-Mo Chiu (Taiwan)
Prof Cristian Gheorghe (Romania)

srg_h 1958 Societatea Română
de Gastroenterologie
și Hepatologie

Thank you!

We are pleased to invite you to participate in the endoscopy training course titled “Early Colorectal Cancer Management: Best of the Eastern & Western Perspectives”, held during the National Congress of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Bucharest, on 11th of June 2025. Join us for an enriching experience as we explore innovative approaches to early colorectal cancer management!

Goals

At the end of this course all participants will be able to recognize early colorectal cancer, assess the invasion depth and select the most appropriate resection method. We will employ innovative educational tools grounded in the Science of Expertise for transferring cognitive knowledge and clinical decision skills that optimize the quality and effectiveness of screening colonoscopy. Through interactive case-based discussion we will offer you plenty of opportunities to practice with expert feedback to significantly improve your practice.

Target group:

- Screening colonoscopists
- All endoscopists who perform colonoscopy in their daily practice and are willing to advance their endoscopy skills